An 18,000 ft. Egan Versa^{Wall} Case Study

Recent renovations to 29 floors of KeyCorp headquarters involved a complete appearance overhaul, and an additional 168 meeting rooms. "The fit and finish are just great, we wanted a clean look and our built in marker tray blends in beautifully."

The Cleveland, Ohio skyline is home to a remarkable blend of architectural landmarks—the tallest of which is the KeyTower, home to KeyBank.

Recent renovations to 29 floors of KeyCorp headquarters involved a complete appearance overhaul. An exciting feature to these meeting rooms is the addition of Egan Versa^{Wall}—a floor-to-ceiling dry-erasable wallcovering product from Egan Visual.

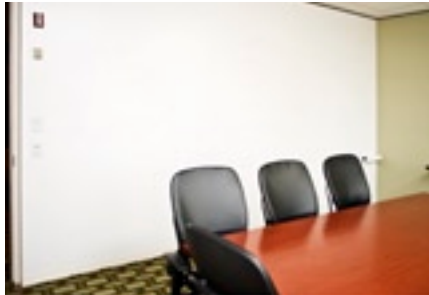

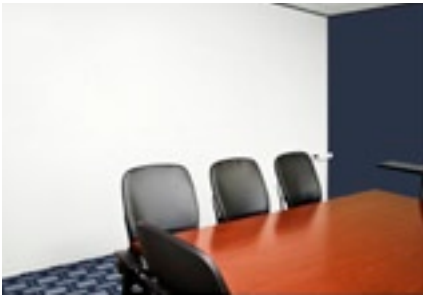

Brad Pinchot led the install team: "I really like the Egan Versa^{Wall} material. It has a really elegant finish that complements the textured wallcovering treatments."

Reviewing the 18,000 linear feet of installation, Craig Fotie with KeyCorp Real Estate Services noted that

"The fit and finish are just great, we wanted a clean look and our built in marker tray blends in beautifully."
